2014 Lighthouse Night

By Todd Moen

Amid a few periods of light rain, and then the final cloud burst at 9:00pm, the 2014 Lighthouse Night did manage to gather a sizable crowd. This issue is focused on that evening's photos.

COMMODORE'S CORNER

your opportunity. See you there! - John Bertelsen
Commodore EMYC .

By John Bertelsen

Light House Night was a fitting end of summer event for this year's weather. For most of the evening the showers were five to ten minutes, but you just knew the reprieve was not to last the evening. The crowd watching the Band perform gets high marks for perseverance as during the grand finale number it really started to rain. In contrast the weekend of the Art Fair was absolutely perfect. I was only able to attend to the ponds on Sunday, but was rewarded with one of the most memorable days of sailing yet. Most of my time was spent on the north pond as I had the Mighty Mary on the water, and the middle pond is just a bit small to really let her stretch her legs. Good thing too as the wind was spirited and she really got moving.

More good news is the grass in the channel between the middle and north ponds has gone away, whether from the paddleboats or natural attrition it does not matter. What does matter is that the three pond race should be able to be run this fall. Fall is definitely here so it is getting to be the last days on the ponds. If you have not had time to be at the ponds as you would have liked, maybe fall is

OCTOBER ELECTIONS

Yes folks, it is that time of year, when we are electing club members for club responsibilities. As always, nominations for all leadership roles will be widely accepted for the 2015 club leaders. There are at least two Vice-commodores that do not wish to continue their roles in this capacity. It is always great to see members who have never held an active role make a commitment. Elections will be held at the October meeting.

A NOTE FROM TODD MOEN

Iwant to thank all the members who wished Julia and I, their sincere condolences for the passing of my mother, and then Julia's sister-in-law, this past month. During my "pond talks" with many of you, just having someone there to visit with and helping me cope with my mother's long fight with Alzheimer's Disease, made a big difference to me. You folks are the greatest!

I also encourage anyone that has taken photos or video footage of this year's club activities, please put them on a CD or DVD disk and get them to me as SOON as possible. I need the extra time to create this year's video & slide presentation.
